

Do Justice

Why is it important to understand the theology that humans are created in the image of God? Why is it that we can call anything just or unjust? Why should we be good people?

“Wait until all the facts are in” is a common refrain today. Do you think it’s possible for you to know all the facts about a situation across the globe? Why or why not?

Depending on your answer to the previous question, how appropriate is it to try to make sense of everything now that the world is at our fingertips?

What should a Christian’s engagement with justice look like in light of all we see and know now via the internet and social media?

Read Philippians 4:4-8. Have you felt hopeless, anxious, or depressed about injustice recently? How can you be peaceful without being apathetic towards injustice?
