Do Justice

Why do Christians often integrate unbiblical cultural values and human traditions into the church?

What ways in particular do you see this happening in the church today?

Is the Bible sufficient? To what degree do we need to hear and understand human philosophy/tradition/ideology? Is it ever appropriate to adopt these into church practices?

How do you personally go about learning these things without being taken captive by them?

How should we approach a brother or sister in the church when it seems that they have lost their tether to scriptural truth and are drifting into the yellow or red zones?

How should we talk with friends/neighbors/coworkers outside the church about topics like critical theory?
